

Faculty Fellowship Publication Program (FFPP)

Call for Proposals 2018-2019

The Faculty Fellowship Publication Program (FFPP) advances CUNY's institutional commitment to diversity. Sponsored by the Office of the Dean for Recruitment and Diversity, this University-wide initiative assists full-time untenured CUNY faculty (assistant professors) in the design and execution of writing projects essential to progress toward tenure. These projects may include research-based scholarly articles for juried journals, books for academic presses and creative writing projects. This signature program provides three credit hours of course release for the spring semester, a writing group, and the guidance of a senior faculty member.

Application Deadline October 26, 2018

FACULTY TESTIMONIALS

“FFPP was transformative. My mentor and colleagues helped me figure out how to make room for and value my scholarship amid the many other competing demands of being a CUNY faculty member. I am on the right track for tenure now.”

“This was the most useful, inspiring, and rigorous experience I've had at CUNY. Not only was it incredibly rewarding to meet colleagues in different fields with similar interests and get their insightful feedback, it reminded me of what a dynamic community CUNY is and what endless possibilities for collaboration and support exist. This was a tremendous way to focus on scholarship within a larger community.”

“I really valued the collegiality and the commitment of my writing group to the work of getting better as a scholar. This has been the best professional development experience I have been involved in since graduate school.”
