THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK (CUNY) is the nation’s leading urban public university. Founded in 1847, the University is comprised of 24 institutions: twelve 4-year colleges, the William E. Macaulay Honors College, seven community colleges, CUNY Graduate Center, CUNY Graduate School of Journalism, CUNY School of Law, and CUNY Graduate School of Public Health and Health Policy.

A CUNY education includes opportunities only available in a global city. Learning in New York City – an essential hub of business, finance, fashion, media, technology, scientific research and culture – means that the whole city and its people will be your classroom and your classmates.

That’s why there are more than 272,000 students currently earning a world-class degree from the University’s award-winning and distinguished faculty. And another 228,000 New Yorkers enhancing their careers through continuing and professional education at CUNY. The buildings of New York City reach for the sky – and CUNY is proud to help 500,000 students rise even higher.
CUNY offers a comprehensive liberal arts education designed to create well-rounded graduates who are able to participate completely in our society. In short, our Science majors choose to take fine arts, acting, or photography classes — and our aspiring artists choose from among biology, modern languages, and computer science classes.

This commitment to a comprehensive core education is embodied in our Pathways Promise, through which all undergraduates across CUNY in every one of our 1,750 different academic programs complete 30 college credits of core classes that expose them to Creative Expression, Quantitative Reasoning, The Scientific Method, World Cultures and Global Issues, The Individual and Society, and The U.S Experience.

When CUNY graduates leave our colleges, they are not only highly competent in their selected major but also able to converse confidently with others from different backgrounds and diverse academic disciplines.
Did you know that CUNY students learn from “genius” professors? It’s true – the MacArthur Fellowship, also known as the “genius grant,” is awarded to outstanding recipients who have been recognized for their artistic, intellectual, and professional pursuits. So far, over 15 recipients of this award have been from CUNY.

CUNY professors have won the Pulitzer Prize for poetry, become Fulbright Scholars many times, earned the prestigious Guggenheim Fellowship, and won highly-selective, multi-million dollar research grants from the National Science Foundation. And our small average class sizes mean that CUNY students get personal attention from these award-winning faculty. In fact, our professors’ passion for ground-breaking research is only exceeded by their passion for building a path their diverse students can follow to become powerful contributors in myriad industries.

CUNY Faculty Earned $132 Million in Funding for Research in 2016.
At CUNY we offer an extensive variety of majors – over 1,750 academic programs – in classes taught by world-class faculty. Whether you have an interest in anthropology, business, the sciences, engineering, psychology or women’s studies, we have you covered.

The next page shows only a sample of the majors which are available across many CUNY campuses. Every CUNY college offers additional academic majors which are exclusive to them within the University, such as Archaeology at Hunter, Automotive Technology at Bronx Community College, Forensic Psychology at John Jay, or Veterinary Technology at LaGuardia Community College.

Our distinguished faculty will help you pursue any of our academic programs or to design your own major in the CUNY Baccalaureate Program. The University prepares students for every career on earth, and even a few in space. You could complete a degree in Physics and become the next astronaut educated at CUNY.

While CUNY’s range of majors and academic programs is impressive, even more exciting is the wide range of student services which CUNY provides to ensure that every student can succeed in the classroom.

CUNY has a proud national reputation as a leader in providing support to students outside the classroom; in fact, several CUNY programs are innovative models that have been adopted by other colleges and universities across America.

CUNY supports students with an extensive array of programs and staff dedicated to their success.

CUNY students have access to:
- Academic Tutoring
- Accessibility/Disability Services
- Career Development Centers
- Counseling/Wellness Centers
- Student Peer Mentors
- Single Stop Centers

CUNY students also have access to top-flight career preparation and professional development. Our students can tap into a network of:
- Over a million CUNY alumni
- CUNY professors and their industry connections

CUNY also has a number of innovative programs to help students gain hands-on knowledge through experiential learning opportunities. Programs like the CUNY Service Corps and CUNY Cultural Corps have provided thousands of CUNY students with paid work experience in community-based organizations, government agencies, and cultural institutions across New York City while mobilizing these students to work on fulfilling projects.
Support Programs

ASAP

ASAP assists students in earning an associate degree as quickly as possible by providing a range of supports — including comprehensive and personalized advisement, career development, tutoring, waivers for tuition and fees (for students in receipt of financial aid), MTA MetroCards, and textbook vouchers. ASAP also offers special class scheduling options to ensure that ASAP students get the classes they need, are in classes with other ASAP students, and attend classes in convenient blocks of time to accommodate their work schedules. As students approach graduation, they receive special supports to help them transfer to bachelor’s programs or transition into the workforce, depending on their goals.

College Discovery and SEEK

College Discovery (CD) at community colleges and Search for Education, Elevation, and Knowledge (SEEK) at 4-year colleges are educational opportunity programs designed to help students who are eager to learn, but face financial difficulties and prior academic hurdles.

Students will benefit from additional opportunities for guidance and financial support. College Discovery and SEEK students graduate at higher rates than their peers and go on to achieve amazing academic results.

cuny.edu/seekcd

Student Profile

Elaine Johnson is a SEEK student who completed her bachelor's in City College’s Psychology Honors Program with a 3.9 GPA. She will do research at the University of Cambridge before pursuing a PhD.
CUNY campuses are as vibrant and exciting as the city they call home. Driven by dedicated student leaders, every campus has a full calendar of fun and fulfilling activities that students can participate in. CUNY campuses also schedule “club hours” so that all students have the opportunity to make meaningful connections outside the classroom.

CUNY has an amazing array of community service organizations, social action clubs, student government, and campus media like radio stations, newspapers, and magazines that will give you the chance to develop your current interests, and learn something new.

Campus Activities can include:
- Film Festivals
- Club Fairs and Meetings
- Fashion and Talent Shows
- Faculty Lectures and Guest speakers
- Art Exhibits
- Concerts and Performances

CUNY has over 1,800 student organizations including academic, multicultural, and service clubs like:
- Alpha Kappa Psi
- Chi Alpha Epsilon Honor Society
- International Students Club
- Japanese Club
- Muslim Students Association
- Organization for Student Veterans
- Robotics Club
- Student Nurses Association
- Video Game Club
- Xtreme Sports Club
CUNY Athletics

Intercollegiate and intramural athletic opportunities are available across CUNY.

Varsity

CUNY has its own athletics conference, CUNYAC, for inter-CUNY competitions but CUNY varsity athletes also compete against other colleges locally and regionally. At the varsity level, tremendously talented scholar-athletes compete in 14 different sports across CUNY. Varsity teams at CUNY’s four-year colleges compete in the NCAA, while varsity community college teams belong to the NJCAA. CUNYAC Championship games are played in some of the best professional venues in New York City, including MCU Park for baseball, Icahn Stadium for track and field, and the Billie Jean King National Tennis Center - the home of the U.S. Open tennis tournament.

CUNY scholar-athletes are champions both on and off the field. For example, each summer All-Star scholar-athletes travel as part of the CUNYAC Goodwill Tour to engage in friendly competition and humanitarian work in high-need areas of the world. In recent years these scholar-athletes have visited Argentina, Cuba, Ecuador, and South Africa, among other places.

Intramural

And if you’re not ready to play at the varsity level, consider joining an intramural team for recreation and to make new friends.

Students have formed intramural teams to play:

- 3-on-3 Basketball
- Bowling
- Dodgeball
- Handball
- Indoor Soccer
- Table Tennis
- and Quidditch (yes, Quidditch)
New York City is a global cross-roads, and as a result CUNY students are the beneficiaries of incomparable diversity. CUNY students encounter classmates and new friends from all over the world every day, which is a tremendous advantage in an increasingly interconnected world.

In addition, CUNY students have an opportunity to study abroad in any of 51 countries by choosing from over 166 programs.

We offer programs where you can immerse yourself in another language, as well as programs taught in English. You don’t have to worry about the cost, many programs are the same as CUNY tuition and allow students to apply financial aid. In addition, CUNY students routinely receive competitive scholarships to study abroad like the prestigious Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship, and the Fulbright U.S. Student Fellowship Program.

cuny.edu/studyabroad

“This study abroad experience has meant the world to me and has given me the push to embark on further traveling. I believe it is something everyone should have the opportunity to experience.”

— Kalilla, student at CUNY John Jay College of Criminal Justice

Seven CUNY campuses now offer a rich residential life to over 3,000 students. Students benefit greatly from living on-campus because they take advantage of increased opportunities to make life-long friends and to involve themselves deeply in the life of their campus through student leadership opportunities.

Students living on-campus:
- Cultivate relationships with a diverse population of people
- Are exposed to a wide range of ideas and cultures
- Develop strong interpersonal and communication skills
- Are more involved in campus organizations and activities

Affordable Tuition

CUNY’s exceptional affordability is part of a firm commitment to being an amazing vehicle for social mobility. No wonder that a recent study concluded that CUNY has propelled six times as many graduates into the middle class and beyond as all of the Ivy League combined.

And this commitment is stronger than ever before. The recent announcement of New York’s Excelsior Scholarship offering free tuition to eligible New York families earning $100,000 or less annually means even more students will graduate debt-free.
