3. Preliminary Evaluation

As a starting point, researchers, Research Program Directors, Grants Officers and others involved in the oversight of the project in question should use the CUNY Export Control Preliminary Evaluation Form to evaluate whether export control regulations apply to a given project. When in doubt, please contact your College’s Export Control Administrator for further guidance.

Research areas that may be most affected include: engineering, space sciences, computer sciences, research with lasers, research involving advanced cryptographic technology and research involving controlled chemicals, biological agents, toxins or select agents.
