At the City University of New York (CUNY) we welcome and support veterans, reservists and dependents on our 24 campuses across the five boroughs of New York City. We are proud of the level of diversity and academic excellence that our 3,400 veterans (800 of which are women veterans) bring to our campuses and recognize the contribution that they make as citizens and students. We are dedicated to fostering a sense of community and to developing a channel of communication among veteran and reservist students, and with faculty, staff and administration.

The CUNY Office of Veterans Affairs (COVA) orchestrates initiatives to retain student veterans and their family members by implementing best practices and complying with federal, state and institutional policies such as Executive Order 13607 – Principles of Excellence, the DOD MOU and the 8 Keys to Veterans Success. Working collaboratively with community agencies, COVA aims to increase awareness and sensitivity to the unique needs of veterans, and provide resiliency-based social and academic support to encourage post-graduate success.

Visit our website for a virtual one-stop source of information regarding services for veterans, reservists and their dependents and survivors. In addition, it is a guide to educational benefits, entitlements, counseling and advocacy resources, which will assist veterans in pursuing their academic and civilian careers.

The CUNY Office of Veterans Affairs team is happy to assist you with any questions.

Nancy Delgadillo — US Army Veteran
BA, Creative Writing
The City College of New York

“I joined the Army weeks after 9/11, traveled the world, lived in Germany, deployed to Iraq and Kuwait. Was honorably discharged and jumped back to work. Two years ago, I decided to finish my degree in the most exciting city in the world #NYC. I fell in love with the rich history and diverse culture in my campus, with students from 153 countries, speaking 99 languages at The City College of New York (CCNY). I’ve had an incredible learning experience and this semester I graduated with Honors. But I couldn’t have done it without the encouragement from dear friends and our team at CUNY Central, when extensive analysis of Shakespeare plays tested my resolve. It has been an honor to work for the CUNY Veteran Affairs office in supporting my fellow veterans, and congratulations to all 746 Graduates!”
Student Veteran Guide to Academic Success

1. Join the SVO and get involved! You increase your chances of graduating by 25% if you get involved in an on-campus community.

2. College is about relationships and connections first, books second. Get involved on and off campus! Volunteer. Take up interesting and challenging internships. Explore!

3. Show up early, sit at the front, ask and answer questions.

4. Go to your professor’s office hours every week (yes, every week!). If the professor doesn’t know your name and favorite color by the end of the semester, you didn’t go enough! This single action undoubtedly raised my GPA by a full point!

5. Leverage campus resources: Career and Professional Development, Writing Centers, and post-graduate resources (like the Office of Prestigious Scholarships and Fellowships at Hunter College). The amount and quality of these resources is astounding. Don’t wait, like me, until your junior year to start seeking these out. Colleges invest millions of dollars in these programs and they are widely underutilized.

6. Get to know your classmates. It helps to start the first couple weeks of class, otherwise it becomes awkward to introduce yourself. Exchange numbers and email addresses. This will pay dividends down the road.

7. It is ok to struggle, get behind, and get discouraged. Reach out and ask for help. Talk to your professors and let them know what’s going on. The good ones care more about your development than your grade - they want to help.

8. Reach out to other student veterans. Go out. Have fun. Help and be helped by others.

9. Take classes that you wouldn’t normally be interested in - you learn a lot and can have fun.

10. Most importantly, focus on the experience, not the

Learn About the New Forever GI Bill Benefits

On August 16, 2017, President Trump signed into law the Harry W. Colmery Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2017 that passed both the House and the Senate unanimously nine days earlier, Harry W. Colmery was an American Legion Commander responsible for writing the original language that became the first GI Bill – the Serviceman’s Readjustment Act of 1944.

Commonly known as the “Forever GI Bill”, the Harry W. Colmery Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2017 picked up its nickname due to its main provision which eliminates the current 15-year use-it-or-lose-it constraint of the Post 9/11 GI Bill education benefit. This time limitation has been one of the sticking points of the Post 9/11 GI Bill with veterans and many veteran organizations since the implementation of the Post 9/11 GI Bill back in August 2009. While removing this “feature” is important, it’s just one benefit change of many contained within the unprecedented Forever GI Bill.
